COOLER TEMPERATURES, EVEN COOLER PROGRAMS

Welcome to fall semester 2017 at TCU Extended Education! Fall is marked by many annual events—the start of a new academic year, the eventual decline of ghastly temperatures and the anticipation of the many holidays to come. There seems to be a breath of optimism and new starts in the fall, and we join you in feeling this way.

At TCU Extended Education, our goal is to provide you with opportunities to explore new ideas, learn new skills and enhance your life. We hope that you find something that stirs the desire to learn; because learning never ends! If you don't find something you're looking for, please let us know—we're always looking to enhance our offerings.

Our programs are grouped by series:

ARTS: Drawing, Painting, Sewing, Knitting, Art History/Museums, Digital Photography, Music

CULTURE: History, Food & Beverage, Languages, Literature, Travel, Center for Texas Studies

ENRICHMENT: Financial Management, Faith, Personal Development, Family Life, Youth, Writing & Publishing, TCU Faculty Favorite Lecture Series, Fort Worth Botanic Garden

FITNESS/RECREATION & LEISURE: T'ai Chi, Yoga, Golf, Bridge, Qi Gong

PROFESSIONAL & CAREER DEVELOPMENT: Business Development, Non-profit Development, Professional Development, Computers & Technology, Test Preparation, online Ed2Go

You'll also notice that each class has its own grid with all the course details.
Thank you for your interest in lifelong learning. We look forward to being a part of your ongoing education and enrichment!

THE MEDIEVAL WORLD OF GAME OF THRONES

George R. R. Martin, author of the popular The Song of Ice and Fire series, once explained in an interview with Time magazine that he wanted to combine the "realism of historical fiction" with "the magic and the wonder" of fantasy in his books. Many critics of his series have since argued that the success of Martin's fictional world of Westeros is its realism, a realism that is deeply rooted in the historical Middle Ages and medieval literature. In this lecture, we will explore some of the historical and literary sources from the medieval period that provide the inspiration and foundation for Martin's books, and how the books and the TV show are a sort of "gateway" into the real medieval past and medieval literature.

IN SEARCH OF STEPHEN F. AUSTIN

This lecture will examine the life and times of Stephen F. Austin and explore how history and historians have understood him over a century's time. Austin, the "Father of Texas," has long been enshrined in the public imagination as an authentic American hero, but one who was colorless and rather remote. Dr. Cantrell brings Austin's private life, motives, personality, and character into sharp focus, revealing a driven man who successfully mixed effort and cunning, idealism and pragmatism to build an illustrious career.

SOCIAL IDENTITY TRANSITIONING

This lecture introduces a theoretical concept known as social identity transitioning (SIT). SIT is the process of transitioning from a privileged to a marginalized social identity in the context of close relationships. The presenter will share examples of this process occurring within the context of parent-LGBTQ adult child relationships. Attendees will be introduced to current theory, research, and practical applications of how the SIT theoretical concept can inform inter-professional practice and enhance interpersonal relationships between family members and close relational partners.

INSTRUCTOR: DEBORAH REED
COURSE CODE: 17FA133 $111.00

ART APPRECIATION IN THE COLLECTIONS OF FORT WORTH MUSEUMS

Kimbell docent Deborah Reed repeats a popular class that shows one doesn't have to travel to world capitals to learn about great art. She will guide students through the art collections of the four art museums in Fort Worth. Students will see art as a logical continuum linked from ancient times to the 21st century, focusing on aspects of patronage, underlying political and religious agendas and the impact of emerging technology like photography.

The class will include a Sunday two-hour tour of the Modern, Amon Carter and Kimbell Museums.

OCTOBER 26 - DECEMBER 14, 2017
6-8 PM
LOCATION: TCU | SESSION(S): 7 | DAY(S): S M T W T F S
INSTRUCTOR: BARBARA KOERBLE
COURSE CODE: 17FA130 $180.00

NIGHTS AT THE MUSEUM

This class will provide an introduction to the world-class art museums in the Metroplex. Art Historian Barbara Koerble will lead tours of local art museums, including the Kimbell Art Museum, the Amon Carter Museum, the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth, the Dallas Museum of Art, the Crow Collection and the Nasher Sculpture Center. The class location will alternate among the museums in the evenings. The tours will include discussions about various art objects in the museum's permanent collections as examples of major art movements and styles, as well as tours of special traveling exhibitions at several museums.

Participants will be responsible for any admission fees and travel to the museums.

INSTRUCTOR: DEBORAH REED
COURSE CODE: 17FA132 $71.00

BELLE EPOQUE, ART NOUVEAU IN THE GILDED AGE OF FRANCE

The period between the Franco-Prussian War and World War I is remembered in France as a golden age of peace, prosperity and optimism. Cafè society blossomed and we will look at the emerging poster designs, and the modernism of Post-Impressionism, the Nabis, Fauvism and early Cubism. However, we will focus on Art Nouveau as influenced by Japanese art, the curvilinear forms of nature and a continuing rejection of classic Academic art. Art Nouveau crossed many thresholds, and, in addition to graphic and fine art, we will see how these ideas crossed into architecture, furniture and fashion.

USING MEMOIRS TO CREATE A NARRATIVE OF LIFE AROUND CONTINUOUS GROWTH

Our life should promote our continuous growth as a whole person. All healthy lives depend on our growth not only intellectually, but also psycho-emotionally and spiritually. This class will explore these concepts operationally and the importance of balanced growth, and investigate how each influences our development and our lives, individually and collaboratively. How can we use these concepts to construct a life and a story? One tool for experiencing this narrative construction is memoir. Participants will practice writing memoir episodes around themes essential to our growth as a whole person.
